Largest-Ever Murray Marching Band To Take Field Saturday

When the 1979-80 version of the Racer Band takes the field in Roy Stewart Stadium at Murray State University at the home football opener Saturday evening, it will be the largest band in the school's history.

David A. Wells, who is beginning his fifth year as director, said more than 170 students make up the Racer Band — 167 of them on the field. There are 118 with wind and percussion instruments, 38 in the flag corps, four field commanders, three twirlers, and four rifles. A fourth twirler will be added before the game Sept. 22.

Even though the band is the largest ever at Murray State, Wells talks more about the collective positive attitude of the unit than about numbers.

"These people have tremendous pride," he noted. "Their approach is 'we will' rather than 'we can't.' They are determined that the band this year will be the best ever at Murray State, as well as the biggest."

The opening performance of the year will begin with a contemporary major production number entitled "Divergence," followed by a percussion feature, "The Wizard of Oz," and two Chuck Mangione songs, "My Way" and "Land of Make Believe."

"Our thinking for every show is to try to have enough variation in music so that everyone in the audience is familiar with at least some of it," Wells explained.

The band, which reported to the campus Aug. 19 and spent 50 hours in rehearsal the first week, is made up of about 50 percent freshmen, which Wells called typical. He said the academic demands on a student's time increase considerably from the freshman to the sophomore year, making it much more difficult for band members to meet the schedule of an hour and a half of rehearsal every day.

Along with preparing the pre-game show of eight or nine minutes and the halftime show of eight minutes for the first performance of the year, the band is also busy getting uniforms repaired and into shape for another year.

In addition to five home games, the Racer Band will perform in the Homecoming Day parade Oct. 27, at the Festival of Champions, the Kentucky Music Educators Association regional marching band festival, and probably at the Murray State-Western Kentucky game in Bowling Green Nov. 17.

"Since they are basically competitive, the people in the band enjoy appearing with other bands," Wells added. "It's really a kind of ego boost, especially in a situation where as much rivalry exists as between Murray and Western."

Wells calls Fogle "one of the top field commanders in the country."

"Twirlers for the first game are: Vicky Pool, Crofton, sophomore; Susan VanZant, Henderson, freshman; and Hope Miller, Union City, Tenn., freshman."

Wells, who is aided in his work with the band by John Roark, Central City graduate assistant, conducted clinics and demonstrations in Hawaii during the summer for band directors and students from all over the islands. He plans to return to Honolulu in the summer of 1980.

His tentative plans for 1979-80 include trips to Japan and South Africa.

Wells is also on the summer faculty of VanderCook College in Chicago, where he works with Arnold Casavant, one of the foremost marching band authorities in the world. They have students from Australia, South Africa, Japan, and all across the United States each year.

View Of Capital Punishment Unchanged

By TONY WILSON
Staff Reporter

Despite his two and one-half year relationship with John Spenklink, who was executed last May in Florida, the Rev. Tom Fennstra says his stand against capital punishment isn't based on emotion.

"A society has to stop somewhere, and I think putting people to death is where the line should be drawn," Fennstra told a small group yesterday that attended the first of weekly lectures scheduled by Murray State University's United Campus Ministry for this semester.

Spenklink, found guilty of first-degree murder of Joe Szymankiewicz, 43, in 1973, was sentenced by the Florida courts to die in the electric chair. Spenklink admitted to having killed Szymankiewicz, but insisted that he had acted in self-defense.

Nevertheless, the final appeals court, the Florida Supreme Court, the Federal Appeals Court and U.S. Supreme Court all upheld the lower court's decision.

The vicar of the Grace Episcopal Church in Paris, Tenn., Fennstra said that Spenklink "was a clear-cut case of the misjustice of capital punishment. The John Spenklink that the court found guilty of murder was not the same John Spenklink that was executed," Fennstra said. "During the two and a half years that I knew him, he became a drastically changed man."

However, Fennstra pointed out that he didn't feel Spenklink was ready to be released by society. "But my moral and religious beliefs compel me to say that capital punishment is simply wrong."

Fennstra, who began his prison ministry in Florida's Raiford State Prison in 1972, says he found prison conditions "beyond my comprehension. I couldn't, and still can't, understand how a country could put up with that kind of system."

To use the term "rehabilitate," says Fennstra, is a misconception in many cases. "To say it is possible to rehabilitate someone is assuming they have some kind of positive background to work with in the first place," said Fennstra.

"I don't think John did," he said, relating Spenklink's past from the time he was placed in a youth detention center at the age of 12, until the time he was placed on death row in 1973. "During the time I knew him, John went from a confused, somewhat angry young man to one who was trying to deal with his life."

Fennstra also related his experiences in the difficulties he had in seeing Spenklink in the latter stages of his wait on death row. "A wall was placed between death-row prisoners and others, and they weren't permitted to see others because they were considered a high-escape risk," said Fennstra, who also stated that he still has a case pending in Florida which says that the wall is an infringement upon the prisoners' rights.

Spenklink received a stay on his execution, but a few days later, a second execution date was set. Fennstra stayed with Spenklink until 8 a.m.

hampered by lack of space and that the courts cannot operate efficiently without another courtroom.

The report said that the offices of the sheriff, county attorney, county judge-executive and property valuation administrator are in need of space. It was also pointed out that the circuit judge and the commonwealth's attorney do not have offices in the courthouse.

The jury recommended the increased use of microfilming in order to maximize the space available for the storage of records. Further, it was suggested that the microfilming equipment be moved to a more central location in the courthouse to make it more accessible to all affected offices.

The county maintenance barn, the animal shelter and the jail were found to be clean and operated efficiently. However, the jury noted that the jail needs additional space and that the lighting is poor and should be improved.

In addition, the jury found that the fencing under the runways at the animal shelter should be repaired and pointed out that the work load calls for two people to operate the facility during office hours.

The jury found the city-county park facilities in good condition and noted that improvements called for by the May grand jury are under way.

Atlanta Symphony To Present Concert

The Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, now in its 35th season, is one of the youngest American orchestras to achieve national prominence in the past quarter century. The orchestra, begun as a youth orchestra in 1944, will present a concert at Lovett Auditorium on the Murray State University campus at 8:15 p.m. Friday, October 12. The concert is sponsored by the Murray Civic Music Association.

MCMA is currently conducting its annual membership drive which will close Friday.

"MCMA subscriptions must be bought by 6 p.m. tomorrow (Sept. 14) in the lobby of the Bank of Murray or by telephoning 753-0711," a spokesman said.

Robert Shaw, internationally famed director of the Robert Shaw Chorale, began his tenure as music director and conductor of the Atlanta Symphony during the 1967-68 season.

Recognizing its responsibility as the only major orchestra within a 500-mile radius of the city, the Atlanta Symphony tours throughout the Southeast and the United States. The national endowment for the Arts has made annual grants to underwrite the cost of the regional touring.

In addition to major population centers, the orchestra makes stops in smaller communities and on college campuses. During the 1979-80 season, the tour will take the orchestra into Tennessee, Georgia and Florida as well as Kentucky. Next spring the orchestra will present concerts in Boston, Washington, D. C., Storrs, Conn., Hershey, Pa., and Englewood, N.J.

month ago. Brandon said the car was produced from 1954 to 1963. The car, made in Athens, Ohio, has a 7½ horsepower Wisconsin engine, automatic with reverse and gets 50 miles to the gallon, Brandon said. He added he will take the car to his museum, the Car Collectors Hall of Fame, 1534 Demonbreau Road, Nashville.

Frederic Terrorizes Coast From Florida To Louisiana

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Hurricane Frederic crashed into this 300-year-old port with 130 mph winds early today, ripping apart homes, flattening businesses and felling trees and power lines along the Gulf Coast from Florida to Louisiana.

By morning the storm had moved inland over southeast Mississippi, growing weaker but still whipping winds up to 80 mph as far as Meridian, Miss., about 100 miles to the north.

There were two confirmed deaths as the born-again storm hit Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and the Florida Panhandle, churning up 15-foot tides. Forecasters said the greatest threat today was from floods and tornadoes.

This festival city of 300,000 and neighboring Pascagoula, Miss., a smaller city to the west, bore the brunt of the hurricane which first hit land at Dauphin Island, a resort island 5 miles long that was reported "sliced in half."

"I would say there is not a dwelling, business or any other building in Jackson County that does not have damage ranging from minor to total destruction," said Ken Phillips, director of disaster relief in Pascagoula.

While no incidents of looting had been reported, Alabama Gov. Fob James sent armed National Guardsmen and state troopers into the area and Mayor A.J. Cooper of Prichard, a Mobile suburb, told his officers to fire two warning shots at looters, then "shoot to kill."

THE ACES[®] IRA G. CORN, JR.

"Our dignity is not in what we do, but what we understand. The whole world is doing things." — George Santayana.

East understood it all in her defense of today's interesting game. The bidding and the dummy told her where the high diamonds were, so she threw out some bait and lured declarer into a reasonable play to lose his game.

Declarer ducked West's heart jack in dummy and East's queen won. The heart king was continued and declarer ducked once again, playing for the hearts to be 5-3. Now it was time for East to shift. What card would one think best?

If West could be counted on for an entry, the best shift would probably be a spade. Dummy's queen would win, but when West got on lead, another spade through dummy's remaining honor would net five tricks and the game would be one down.

But what were the chances of finding West with an entry? Zero reasoned Betty Kennedy of Shreveport, La. South's bidding marked him with the only remaining high cards, so the best chance lay with setting a cagey trap. And with the innocent and deceptive flair that has brought her many national and international successes, Betty Ann shifted to the jack of diamonds!

Now consider declarer's plight. He wasn't looking at all four hands, so he assumed that Betty Ann had led from the J-10-x-x. He won the diamond queen in dummy and confidently led a diamond to his nine.

The roof caved in when this went to West's 10 and it was no longer possible to get out of dummy. When the smoke cleared, declarer lost three spades, two hearts, a diamond and a club — down 300 on a hand that was cold for nine tricks.

Paschall & Walker Vows Are Read At The Murray Woman's Club House

Miss Alene Paschall, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carves Paschall, Paris, Tenn., and Dale Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker, Owensboro, were married in a candlelight ceremony on Saturday, Aug. 18, at the Murray Woman's Club House.

Claytus Wilson, minister of the Whitlock Church of Christ, officiated at the double ring ceremony read at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. John White, Hazel, pianist and soloist, played several selections preceding the ceremony including "Hawaiian Wedding Song," "Annie's Song," "You Needed Me," "Unchained Melody," and "You and Me Against the World."

The fireplace formed the altar setting with a mantle arrangement of white gladioli, daisies, and baby's breath complimented by a seven branched candelabrum on either side with jade foliage in the background. A unity candle centered the altar setting.

The candles were lighted by Craig Dowdy, Dexter, and Randy Linn, Houston, Texas, as the "Wedding Song" was played. Mothers of the bride and groom entered to "Lara's Theme" and each lighted a candle at the altar from which the bride couple lighted the unity candle. Mrs. White then played and sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Before the processional Mrs. White played and sang "Always and Forever" and the bride party entered as the pianist played "Trumpet Tune and Air." The traditional "Bridal Chorus" was the processional and "We've Only Just Begun" was played for the recessional.

Bride's Dress

The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore a formal gown of white organza. The empire bodice was accented with a victorian neckline and covered with venise lace. A double ripple edged in matching venise lace was attached at the yoke and draped over the shoulders to form a caplet in the back. The full a-line skirt fell into a cathedral length train. A deep flounce attached with a border of matching lace encircled the hemline and the train.

Her ensemble was complimented by a ripple veil of nylon illusion edged in venise lace attached to a pearl trimmed juliet headpiece.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, blue daisies, and baby's breath accented with long white streamers.

The bride wore the traditional something old, a ruby ring, belonging to her maternal grandmother; something new, her dress; something borrowed, pearl earrings belonging to her mother; and something blue, her garter. She also wore a diamond pendant, gift of the groom, and had a penny dated the year of her birth in her shoe for luck.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Tammy Walker, Owensboro, sister of the groom. She wore a formal gown of light blue silesta. The fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and long sheer sleeves trimmed in white lace and satin ribbon. The flared skirt was encircled with matching white lace and ribbon.

Miss Walker carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds, blue and yellow daisies, and baby's breath with streamers of blue, yellow, and white. Her ensemble was completed by a blue silk daisy in her hair.

The flower girl was Miss Amy Nesbitt, Murray. She carried a white net basket trimmed with lace and ribbon and filled with white rose petals. Her floor length dress was identical to the dress of the maid of honor, and she also wore a blue silk-daisy in her hair.

The groom was attired in a tan vested suit and wore a boutonniere of a white silk rosebud and baby's breath.

Kenneth Paschall, brother of the bride, served as best man. Chris Henderson, cousin of the groom, served as ringbearer. Both wore tan vested suits and had boutonnières of yellow rosebuds.

Serving as ushers were Craig Dowdy, Dexter, and Randy Linn, Houston, Texas. They had white daisy boutonnières.

The mother of the bride wore a street-length dress of light blue qiana. The blouson bodice and long gathered sleeves were trimmed with light blue venise lace. Her corsage was a white-yellow throated orchid.

The groom's mother wore a street-length two piece dress of floral knit. The overblouse featured short sleeves and coordinated with the matching skirt. A white yellow-throated orchid was her corsage.

Special guests of the bridal couple were the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Jewell Nance, Puryear, Tenn., and Mrs. Maggie Paschall; the groom's grandparents, Mrs. Hoyt Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Walker, Owensboro. The grandmothers had corsages of yellow rosebuds and daisies and Mr. Walker's boutonniere was a white daisy.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Walker

The guest register was attended by Miss Wendy Walker, Owensboro, sister of the groom. She had a corsage of white daisies.

Miss Norita Cassity, Murray, directed the wedding.

Reception

A reception followed the ceremony at the club house.

The bride's table was covered with a floor length white lace cloth accented by white satin bows at the corners. Centering the table was a white cherub candelabrum complimented by blue and white daisies and baby's breath.

The white three-tiered cake was accented by yellow daisies and blue rope trim and topped with two white doves.

Yellow fruit punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. Yellow mints decorated with white daisies and assorted nuts were served from silver appointments.

Serving for the reception were Miss Cindy McDowell, Marion, Miss Beth Holland, Benton, and Miss Norita

Cassity, Murray. Mrs. Darryel Lee, Murray, aunt of the bride, directed the reception. They all had corsages of white daisies.

The couple left later for a short wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a light blue qiana pantsuit with a white daisy corsage.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Walker are now residing in Florissant, Mo.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Jewell Nance, Puryear, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nance, Mr. and Mrs. Claytus Wilson, and Miss Ann McCutcheon, all of Paris, Tenn.; Mrs. George Paschall, Ann Paschall, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paschall and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Paschall, all of Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ayers, Irvine, Calif.; Mrs. Leland Marshall, David Marshall, Mrs. Chuck Lacy, Mrs. Hoyt Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. David Henderson, Chris Henderson, and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Walker, all of Owensboro; Cindy McDowell, Kem McDowell, Marion; Mrs. R. R. Holland, Beth Holland, Anna Holland, and David Holland, Benton; Randy Linn and Melanie Boston, Houston, Texas.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. James Walker, parents of the groom, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held at the Colonial House Smorgasbord.

The head table was centered with an arrangement of yellow, blue, and white daisies and baby's breath. Yellow, blue, and white burning tapers were positioned on the tables and accented at the base with white daisies.

Places were laid for 20 guests.

HEALTH

Controlling diabetes

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB —

My husband has diabetes and his feet have really been bothering him lately. He has tried aspirin and Ben Gay rub but nothing seems to help. He has been up all night lately because his feet hurt and the toes are numb and sting. I read where people with this trouble could take a number of medicines but I don't remember what they were. Any help you can give on this would be appreciated.

DEAR READER — Anytime a diabetic starts having trouble with his feet, he ought to see his doctor. It's too easy for diabetes to lose a foot.

The likelihood is that your husband has diabetic neuropathy which means an involvement of the nerves to his feet. This usually affects the sensory nerves and the person may complain of numbness and pain as you describe. As the condition progresses, there may be other changes that indicate involvement of the nerves.

Diabetes does affect the nervous system. That's how it causes impotence. It involves the nerves that control normal sexual arousal.

There are a limited number of things that can be done to control nerve involvement from diabetes. Most authorities think that the best approach is to try to control the blood sugar level as well as possible. Beyond that, most of the medicines that can be used for this condition are really those that relieve pain.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-11, Diabetes: Diagnosis, Prevention And Management, to give you more information on your husband's diabetic problem. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The other possibility is that your husband may be developing changes in his circulation to the legs. That is common in a person who has diabetes. These changes are associated with fatty-cholesterol blockage of the arteries. That's another reason why it's important for your husband to see his doctor.

I'm pleased to see there is hope that there will be improved methods of managing diabetes in the not-too-distant future. The National Institutes of Health has let a contract for the production of small mechanical devices by 1981 to continuously provide insulin. These will change the whole picture of the control of the diabetic who needs to take insulin.

The little device is about the size of a cigarette package and can be worn in the shirt pocket. It will deliver insulin as needed at different times of the day in a controlled manner. This will help to control the marked swings in blood sugar levels that are inevitable with the currently available forms of treatment. It's possible that this improved control may decrease the number of the complications that we now see with diabetes.

In addition, there is a totally implantable insulin dispensing device that's being developed and may be ready soon than people think.

Back-To-School Wardrobe

NEW YORK (AP) — Back-to-school wardrobe expenditures for teen-age girls last fall amounted to more than $6.5 billion, a Seventeen magazine research study shows.

Teens in high school and college purchased nearly $3.8 billion worth of coats, jackets, suits, dresses, skirts, shirts and blouses, sweaters and pants. Footwear amounted to almost $663 million and the bill was $454 million for such accessories as handbags, wallets, sunglasses, umbrellas and gloves.

The favorite shopping place, the research revealed, was department stores, followed by boutiques and specialty stores. The young women reported they were most interested in style, followed by comfort.

Cuba Problem

Cuba and Premier Fidel Castro are very much in the news again, and not only because of the meeting there of the 95 so-called non-aligned nations.

The latest development from that summit meeting is Vietnam's premier urging these nations to align themselves with "the forces of socialism" and battle the United States.

But that expected line takes a back seat to the news of the presence in Cuba of 2,000 to 3,000 Russian combat troops.

Republicans Sens. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Howard Baker of Tennessee, both with considerable influence, have made some strong statements about the Russian troops.

Goldwater sees the troop placement as a Soviet "testing" of the will of President Carter. He says every recent U.S. president has been so tested, and that Carter must meet the challenge head-on or face other challenges elsewhere in the world.

Perhaps even more significantly, Baker has said he sees no way the Cuban-Russian situation can keep from affecting the outcome of the Senate debate on ratification of the SALT II treaty already in some trouble in the Senate.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance has said he would ask for a Soviet explanation of the intentions and purpose of the troops. He didn't indicate what this government will do about them but did indicate the U.S. will avoid a confrontation over the situation.

There are obvious and ominous signals from Cuba, especially since Castro has campaigning to tilt the non-aligned nations toward the Soviet Union. He argues that the fundamental interests of Third World countries lie with the Soviet-led Communist bloc.

It isn't impossible that the timing of the Russian admission that it has stationed troops in Cuba is calculated to demonstrate to the Third World leaders a perceived weakness in U.S. leadership.

Not all the summit participants agree with Castro's view that the future lies with Soviet Communism and some of the nations, such as Yugoslavia, oppose playing tootsie with Russia although adhering to communist doctrines.

There is an obvious gamble here for Castro. Should he come out on the minority side of the debate, he will appear more than ever a stooge of the Soviet Union and his image will suffer in Latin America and the rest of the Third World.

Some observers in this country fear that the Carter administration will take too soft an approach to the Soviet troops in Cuba in order to boost the chances of SALT II approval.

It seems to us a bit premature to suggest outright confrontation through a demand the troops be removed, although it may come to that. Demanding and getting an acceptable explanation from the Soviets could be enough demonstration of U.S. resolve.

At the same time, it seems to us, essential that Carter dispel any hint of personal weakness. Goldwater isn't wrong when he says the Soviets continually test this nation's will.

A Bit Of How Life Is Like On An Air Force Base In Germany

Nancy Hendon has been in town from Germany this week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Crisp, 1001 Fairlane.

She and her family live at Landstuhl in Rheinland Pfalz (the state) and near the big U. S. Air Force European headquarters base at Ramstein. Husband, Gene, is an Air Force colonel with 17 years of service and stationed at the base dental clinic.

It was interesting visiting with Nancy for a few minutes and learning more about their life in Germany.

They live in a small town of 6,000 people some 15 miles from the base and in a three-story "stairwell apartment." Eighteen families, all American military personnel and their dependents, live in their building. "Most of my time is spent going up and down stairs," she laughed.

Their son, Mike, a Murray State graduate, is a cadet in the U.S. Navy Officers Training School at Newport, R. I., but their daughter, Elizabeth, is with them and a senior at the Kaiserslautern High School — the same school where Jack and Beth Belote's daughter, Marion O'Rourke, and her husband, Pete, taught for several years.

Elizabeth is quite a tennis player with an undefeated season last spring as the No. 1 singles player on her school team. This summer she has played in several German tournaments, and just the other day won both the women's singles and doubles championships in their town's big tournament.

Nancy throws up her hands at the mention of traveling on the German autobons — that country's interstates. "Germans like to drive fast," she said, adding that there is no speed limit and cars whiz by at speeds well in excess of 100 miles per hour.

Efforts have been made to set a much lower speed limit, but the people won't hear of it. The Bonn government repeatedly votes it down.

Germans pay $2 and up for a gallon of gasoline with the price steadily climbing toward $3, although the Hendons pay about the same as stateside at the pumps on the base. It's another story, however, when they take trips across country, as they occasionally do.

The Germans, she said, have rather strict — and admirable — rules for drivers. For example, it is mandatory to wear a seat belt at all times. Failure to do so automatically makes a driver liable for a civil suit and a fine in the case of an accident.

Children under 12 are not permitted to ride in the front seat, and ALL windows must be clear of snow, ice or condensation when the vehicle is in operation.

It was coincidental that the World War II German atrocities film, "Holocaust," again was being shown on American television when Nancy was at home.

When it was shown on German television, she said the people were shocked. Many called the tv stations, crying and sobbing in disbelief.

One woman was reported to have immediately divorced her husband of 30 years when she learned after the film had been shown that he was a former Gestapo officer.

One of their most interesting side trips has been to Berchtesgaden, Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat in Austria. Herman Goering and others of the top Nazis also had homes there — all of which were destroyed by Allied bombs or burned by fleeing German Storm Troopers just before the American 101st Airborne Division jumped into the area late in the war.

All were being connected by underground tunnels — tourist attractions today — and Italian workers were still digging them when the American paratroopers drifted down.

Although Germany's annual inflation rate is much less than that of America — approximately 3 percent — food prices are higher than in the states.

They have an open air market in their town to which fresh produce and flowers are brought twice a week year around. "It's a joy to go look at them," she laughed, "but the prices almost are prohibitive. The people all have little gardens on the edge of town, beautifully cared for and artistically planted."

German cemeteries, she noted, especially are beautiful with many kinds of colorful flowers growing by the immaculately manicured grave sites, a far cry of what is found in the average American cemetery.

Tomorrow, Nancy will go to Atlanta to catch a new Delta, non-stop, 9-hour flight back to Germany and home.

Generally, when Gene is along, they make the trip by military aircraft, waiting at some U.S. base until space is available. This usually materializes in the form of a giant cargo plane, which has no windows and in which the seats face the rear.

"I'm kind of looking forward to the Delta flight," she smiled. "At least, I'll be able to see out."

The Story Of Calloway County 1822-1976

By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

All was not well in Calloway County as hundreds of people had left in search of improved health, most of whom had ventured to the Southwest and Far West. The emigration was beginning to show signs of coming to a slow end, but many communities in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arizona and California were peopled with former Calloway natives. With a recurring report of a small-pox infestation, M. M. Smoot of the east side, the fever to abandon the county temporarily gained a new momentum. Inasmuch as one of the primary interest of Ledger readers concerned the health of citizens, correspondence to the weekly newspaper varied. For an example, more than a column was devoted to the devastating effects of cigaret smoking, written by J. H. Fitch of Dexter Rt. 1, another first as far as can be learned from the old files. The concluding lines of Fitch's letter will interest the women folks: "Thanks to the purity of womanhood that she does not indulge in the habit to a very dangerous extent."

Ranks of the Confederate veterans decline with each year. This was also the 1914 year of the last surviving veteran of the Mexican War (1845-48). LaFayette Ervin, Calloway's eldest citizen, died at the home of his son Tom Ervin and was buried in South Pleasant Grove grave yard. He served under General Beauregard. Capt. C. W. Jetton died the previous year, Aug. 19, 1913, at the age of 75, according to a belated obituary which stated he had engaged in vigorous Civil War actions for four years. Captain Jetton was buried in the Wheeler grave yard. Uncle Joe Venable, 80 year old Confederate war veteran, died in Hazel, also William Ethridge succumbed on the east side. William Purdom, a southern soldier, died at the age of 76, and was buried in the Miller grave yard east of Murray. J. F. Myers, CSA, died at his home three miles northwest of Hazel at the age of 75 and was buried in Mt. Pleasant cemetery. Surviving Confederate veterans included Andrew H. Lawson, W. G. Phillips, R. B. Cunningham, N. G. Hooper, C. B. Linn and J. N. Wilson who were listed as beneficiaries under the state pension rolls.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Sept. 13, the 256th day of 1979. There are 109 days left in the year.

On this date in 1788, the Constitutional Convention authorized the first national election in the United States.

On this date: In 1759, the British defeated the French on the Plains of Abraham overlooking Quebec City in the French and Indian War.

In 1814, Francis Scott Key was detained aboard a British warship bombarding Fort McHenry, near Baltimore. The next morning, he wrote "The Star Spangled Banner."

In 1943, Chiang Kai-shek became president of China.

In 1955, West Germany and the Soviet Union established diplomatic relations, their first since World War II.

In 1971, New York State Police storm Attica Prison and put down a four-day rebellion. Nine hostages and 28 inmates died.

Ten years ago: Vietnamese peace talks resumed in Paris, with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge appealing anew for humane treatment of U.S. war prisoners.

Five years ago: Former President Richard Nixon's doctor said Nixon had developed a new blood clot and an attack of painful phlebitis in his left leg.

One year ago: In an unprecedented move, an Elkhart County, Ind., grand jury indicted the Ford Motor Company on three counts of recklessness and one count of criminal negligence in the deaths of three women killed in a fiery Pinto crash.

Today's birthdays: Actress Claudette Colbert is 74. Actress Jacqueline Bisset is 35.

Thought for today: The more people have studied different methods of bringing up children, the more they have come to the conclusion that what good mothers and fathers instinctively feel like doing for their babies is best after all — Benjamin Spock (1903-).

Harland Sanders Wears Age Well

Associated Press Writer
SHELBYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Harland Sanders wears his age as comfortably as his famed white suit and black string tie.

It was a few days before Sept. 9, his 89th birthday, and the Colonel and his Lady were discussing the party being planned for the founder of Kentucky Fried Chicken.

"I'll betcha a lot of politicians show up," he said. "I've spent many dollars on them. One or two ditched me later."

He mentioned the name of former Gov. A.B. Chandler and drew a rebuke from Claudia Sanders. "You're too outspoken. I hope I can keep you from expressing your political opinions at the party."

The Colonel laughed and recalled that he'd once been a candidate.

"I ran for the state Senate and thought I could win by plugging for more roads and speaking out against whisky. The bootleggers were against me and I got beat by 184 votes."

Defeat is a rare word to Sanders whose success story began at 66 when he franchised his chicken. He sold the business to John Y. Brown Jr. for $2 million because "I had nobody to succeed me. I believed the cash would last the rest of my days."

Mrs. Sanders still considers the transaction a giveaway. "We were taking in $1,000 a day. Brown found out what chicken could do and he wanted it."

The couple has no deepseated affection for the Democratic gubernatorial nominee whom, Sanders said, "never fried a pot of chicken in his life. He used his head and it paid off."

"Brown can sell but I don't want him to sell the state if he gets elected."

After Heublein Inc., acquired the corporation, Sanders was hired as goodwill ambassador and travels 250,000 miles a year.

Free time is spent at the nine-room house outside Shelbyville. "I put in $25,000 worth of trees and shrubs," he said. "We lived in a swanky place in Jefferson County for awhile. They wouldn't let you plant a danged fruit tree or a garden."

But, said Mrs. Sanders, "you installed awnings and weren't supposed to."

Although she does most of the cooking, the Colonel frequently slips into the kitchen. "I had eggs, sausage and biscuits today. Also like a little country ham, especially the kind that Claudia prepares."

Her company is curing about 50,000 hams this year, most of them for distribution to grocery chains.

Mrs. Sanders no longer operates a restaurant at Shelbyville.

"He sold it and I didn't know until it was all over," she explained. "He makes up his mind very sudden and doesn't tell anybody."

The banter comes easy to a couple approaching their 30th wedding anniversary. The Colonel already has ruled out an ocean voyage as a gift.

His last cruise was at government expense, as a 16-year-old Army private. He was sent to Cuba on a boat carrying 1,500 mules.

"I weighed 168 pounds when I got on and 127 pounds when I got off, one week later."

He was seasick and "couldn't eat anything, not even fried chicken, if they'd had it."

She'd Welcome A Mama's Boy

By Abigail Van Buren
1979 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: How can parents cope with one of three children who is more of a stranger than a son? He is the eldest, 25, unmarried, self-supporting and selfish.

When Allen left college seven years ago, he completely disassociated himself from the family—never calling, writing or showing any interest or concern regarding family illnesses, deaths, or any of the occasions that usually elicit a caring response from family members. Holidays, graduations, birthdays, anniversaries, etc., are unacknowledged, yet his sister and brother have always been considerate and thoughtful to the family as well as to Allen.

Although he lives only half an hour from us, we are ignored except for Christmas and HIS birthday. Then he honors us with a visit, knowing he will not leave empty-handed—although he ARRIVES empty-handed. He always has plenty of money for his own pleasures—girls, bars and expensive gadgets. We are hurt and disgusted by his behavior and wonder if you or your readers can tell us how to make this thoughtless son aware of his selfishness? Or would you say he is a lost cause?

DEAR HURT: You can't instill concern, consideration and generosity where none exists. However, no one is ever a "lost cause." If some well-meaning friend or relative isn't able to make Allen aware of his selfish behavior, perhaps the power of prayer (yours) will produce a miracle. I hope so.

DEAR ABBY: When FORTY AND CURIOUS asked when you would call a person middle-aged, you replied, "When he (or she) climbs out of the bathtub and is happy to find that the full-length mirror is all steamed up."

I'm sure a lot of readers got a chuckle out of that, but let's be serious about it: My dictionary defines middle-age as the middle period of one's life. In other words, if a person lives to be 90, then he is middle-aged at 45. So the truth of the matter is, since no one knows how long he is going to live, no one knows when he is middle-aged.

66 AND GOING STRONG

DEAR 66: You don't say which dictionary you use, but my Webster's Seventh New Collegiate defines middle-age as the period of life from about 40 to 60. And that's what I call a nice middle-aged spread.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell NEEDS TO KNOW IN NEVADA to go ahead and have himself circumcised.

My husband was 38 before I finally persuaded him to have it done. He felt a little discomfort for about a week afterward, but no other problems. And now he is cosmetically, hygienically and sexually a much superior lover than he used to be. We are not Jewish, so religion didn't enter into it.

ANNIE IN PASADENA

FOR FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1979

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)

Don't let ambition go to sleep. A desire to escape from it all may conflict with duty. Get a second opinion re chronic health complaints.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)

Children or loved ones may fall short of expectations. It is a time to temper discipline with compassion. Reach out to others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)

Domestic concerns may conflict with relationship needs. Do your part to introduce an element of cheer to the home front.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)

A work project may require a realistic reappraisal. Don't be afraid to try the impossible, but keep aspirations reasonable.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22)

Not the time to gamble with security. Grandiose financial plans may have to give way to practical considerations. Know your limits.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

You may find others somewhat draining. Find a way to be true to yourself yet mindful of others' needs. Charity begins at home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

Inner doubts may be the factor checking your wish to be truly creative. Now is the time to distinguish between fact and fantasy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Be wary in financial dealings. A sense of duty towards others needn't strain your monetary picture. Be fair to self and others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

Are your career goals in line with your idealistic yearnings? Now's the time to figure your place in the larger scheme of things.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)

Your sense of right and wrong must be extended to include such intangibles as forgiveness. Be aware of the exception to the rule.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)

You may be torn between your responsibilities towards close ones and the needs of your social circle. Weed out undesirable friendships.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20)

Don't be afraid to step out on your own. The opinions of others mean little if we are selling ourselves short. Dare to be true.

YOU BORN TODAY are both inventive and traditional.

You can do creative work in the area of scientific research or bring new life into an old business. Concerned with personal freedom, you are also concerned with the rights of others and make a good spokesman for their cause.

Teaching, law, investment, counseling, brokerage, selling, and promoting are some of the fields in which you'd excel. Your mental curiosity may also attract you to the arts and you would succeed as an actor, author, or artist. The most economical distance between two points is long distance.

Consider the price of a gallon of gasoline.

Now consider the price of a long distance call.

For 56¢ or less you can talk one minute across the country from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. Additional minutes cost even less. So do calls after 5 P.M. and on weekends. That's for any out-of-state call dialed the 1+ way.*

At home, long distance sends greetings, visits relatives, and helps you handle personal business.

In business, long distance makes sales calls, attends meetings in other cities, and helps solve important problems.

Long distance gets you from point to point a lot cheaper than gasoline.

Long distance. Best mileage for your money.

Brown Businesslike In Handling Road Funds

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial nominee John Y. Brown says that businesslike management is needed to offset shrinkage of the state's road fund.

"With the energy crisis and inflation cutting fuel supplies and travel, our road fund is shrinking," Brown said at a Madisonville news conference Wednesday. "To get the most out of dollars, we are going to have to set priorities and take politics out of the allocation of road funds," he added.

Brown, who released a position paper on highways, charged that funds were wasted on "thousands of miles of two-inch thick blacktop" in the administration of his opponent, Republican nominee and former Gov. Louie B. Nunn — "and they quickly deteriorated."

Roads are a top priority, Brown said. "After all, we have some 25,000 miles of road in critical need of repair and the success of tourism, agriculture, coal and industry all depend on good roads."

Among his proposals for better use of road funds, he said centralized and computerized maintenance orders have not proven effective, and authority for maintenance decisions should be restored to the county and district levels.

Use of recycled paving materials could save money and energy, and use of idle stripmine equipment often could save money on highway projects, he said.

Paducah, Louisville Truck Service Strike Now In Ninth Week

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — A strike by 45 employees of Harper Truck Service, Inc. is in its ninth week at Paducah and Louisville terminals.

Teamsters Local 89 spokesman Norman C. Hug claims the firm has refused to comply with the National Master Freight Agreement approved by the union and trucking industry last spring.

The agreement granted hourly pay increases totaling $1.50 over the next three years, plus cost-of-living increases every six months if the Consumer Price Index warrants them.

could be done by state personnel instead of under personal service contracts, saying "a great many dollars," Brown said.

He also said he would seek more federal funds for Kentucky roads.

On another matter, Brown said in a telegram to the president of the Fayette County chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that he was "disturbed that blacks are no longer represented on the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees."

He referred to the appointment of Terry McBrayer — former commerce commissioner and unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in May — to the UK Board. McBrayer replaced Zirl Palmer of Lexington, the only black on the board.

Brown said "...as soon as I can I will appoint a black to the UK Board of Trustees ... failing to name a sufficient number of blacks and women to the boards of all our public institutions of higher learning ... is inexcusable and a matter that we must correct."

He took a slap at Nunn, saying, "...my opponent did not appoint a single black to the Council on Higher Education or to any of the university boards, other than Kentucky State University..."

Also Thursday, Brown's headquarters said in a news release that Brown, Sen. Wendell Ford, UK President Otis Singletary and Dr. Edward Schneider of the National Institute on Aging will speak Sept. 17 at the dedication of the Sanders-Brown Research Center on Aging at the University of Kentucky.

The center was constructed with the help of a $1 million gift from Brown, who said it was inspired by his father, John Y. Brown Sr., and Col. Harland Sanders. "It is my hope the Sanders-Brown Center will be able to find the answer in making the last years of life as productive and fulfilling as the middle years," he said.

Three-Year-Old Rescues Infant Sister From Rabid Bat Attack

GREELEY, Colo. (AP) — "He was flying and he bit Katie and he bit me and I hit him," said 3-year-old Annie Whattoff after she slapped a rabid bat, knocking it unconscious and getting bit in the process.

For a 3-year-old, what Annie did to rescue her infant sister was amazing, says the chief veterinary epidemiologist at the federal center for disease control.

It was Sunday afternoon, and Annie was napping with her 10-month-old sister in a bedroom of the Whattoff family's home when she saw the bat attack the baby. Annie went after the creature with her hands.

Tests later confirmed the bat was rabid and both girls are undergoing a painful 21-day series of rabies-vaccine shots.

Dr. Gerald Winkler, the veterinary epidemiologist with the Disease Control Center in Atlanta, said Wednesday he had never heard of a case like it.

"My reaction would be that it was a remarkably responsible and protective reaction on the part of the older child," he said. "I am amazed."

Sonya Whattoff, the girls' mother, said there had been bats in the attic and under the eaves of the house before. Efforts to get rid of them were not successful, she said.

The Whattoffs were out Sunday afternoon and a baby sitter was caring for Annie and Katie. Both were napping in Katie's room when the sitter heard Annie screaming.

By the time the sitter got into the room, the bat was unconscious on a bed. Katie had been bitten on the hand; Annie, on the arm.

County animal control officers shipped the bat to Denver, where the State Health Department confirmed Monday it was rabid. State Patrol cars rushed anti-rabies vaccine to Greeley, about 45 miles north of Denver, and the first shots were administered Monday night.

Rabies is almost always fatal to humans without prompt and proper treatment, Winkler said, but vaccines are extremely effective.

The vaccine now used does not cause the extreme reaction that rabies vaccine used to produce, but shots still are administered in the stomach and can be terrifying to such small children.

"I'd rather do it myself than put them through it," said Mrs. Whattoff.

May Even Prevent Heart Attacks

Half An Aspirin A Day Greatly Reduce Threat Of Blood Clots

BOSTON (AP) — Half an aspirin a day will greatly reduce the threat of blood clots in hospital patients and may be enough to prevent heart attacks, researchers say.

The study shows that a small sliver of aspirin will prevent blood platelet cells from sticking together and forming clots in the bloodstream. Such clots can be forerunners of heart attacks.

Dr. Herschel R. Harter, who directed the study at Washington University Medical School in St. Louis, said the latest research does not conclusively prove that the household pain killer will prevent heart attacks.

But he added, "Since I did the study, I take my half an aspirin every morning. That and jogging, I hope, will keep me alive for awhile."

The study, published in today's New England Journal of Medicine, is the latest in a series exploring the beneficial effects of aspirin. However, the earlier ones have used much higher doses of the medicine.

A blood clot — what doctors call thrombosis — is a serious, sometimes fatal complication when people are bedridden in hospitals.

In the study, 19 patients took aspirin, and six of them, or 32 percent, developed blood clots. Meanwhile, 25 others took an inactive substitute, and 18 of those, or 72 percent, had clots.

"There's strong evidence, albeit indirect, showing that if you put people on aspirin, you can prevent coronary thrombosis," Harter said in an interview.

Geneva Brownfield And Shirley Wall Attend KEA Meeting

Geneva Brownfield, president of the Murray Education Association, and Shirley Wall, president-elect of the Calloway County Education Association, participated Sept. 7 and 8 in the Kentucky Education Association's planning session for the new school year's local and district education association leaders.

KEA president June Lee called the meeting at the Hyatt Regency Hotel so that new presidents could discuss plans for carrying out programs that KEA's Delegate Assembly, the policy-making body, has established for 1979-80.

For its legislative goal next year KEA has adopted a one-item program: passage of a professional negotiation law for teachers.

As a parallel matter, however, KEA leaders will work to ensure that funding increases needed for programs vital to education are included in the governor's 1980-82 budget before it is submitted to the 1980 legislature.

Progress Reported In UAW-GM Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Unified Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. negotiators were making "continuing progress," although there were "no essential changes" in either side's position less than 48 hours before a strike deadline against the nation's No. 1 automaker, a UAW spokesman says.

Talks were "continuing in a positive atmosphere," UAW spokesman Don Stillman said Wednesday.

Contracts for 780,000 Big Three workers — including employees of Ford and Chrysler — run out at 11:59 p.m. Friday and the UAW has said it will strike 46 of GM's 130 installations if there is no agreement.

Although each sides positions were not known, the key issues were clear from previous statements — the union's demands for protection of pensioners against inflation and for more paid time off.

Workman's Comp Panel Will Meet

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The special legislative subcommittee on Workmen's Compensation will meet in a few weeks to begin drafting proposed legislation.

The group's chairman said Wednesday that setting time limits on benefits for partial disability probably will be a major consideration.

Rep. Lloyd Clapp, D-Wingo, made the comment as the subcommittee ended three days of hearings.

RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP — Barbara A. Brodmerkle, a Pre-Veterinary major from Oakham, Mass., has been awarded a two-year Army ROTC Scholarship. LTC Randall G. Routh, Chairman of the Department of Military Science, Murray State University, is presenting the scholarship, which covers books, fees and tuition, plus $100 per month for the next two years and is valued at over $2,500 per year. Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden W. Brodmerkle of Oakham, and won the scholarship in nationwide competition.

Story Written By Porter Published In Pushcart Prize

Prof. Joe Ashby Porter, who teaches fiction writing in the English Department at Murray State University, has had one of his short stories "Sweetness, A Thinking Machine," published in the 1979-80 edition of The Pushcart Prize, IV: Best of the Small Presses. Selection of the best writing is made by a committee of over 100 staff members and contributing editors, who are among the most outstanding writers in the United States.

Porter is in his second year of teaching in MSU's developing creative writing program. New Directions published his first novel, Eelgrass, and his stories have been published in a number of literary magazines. The story selected for the Pushcart Prize was originally published in a magazine called "Sun and Moon."

Porter was born in Madisonville and many of his short stories are set in Kentucky. After graduating from high school, Porter attended Harvard University, Oxford University in England, and the University of California at Berkeley, where he received his doctorate.

Porter is also the author of a scholarly book on William Shakespeare, "The Drama of Speech Acts: Shakespeare's Lancastrian Trilogy." Both his novel and the work on Shakespeare are available at the MSU bookstore. Porter is also the fiction editor of Crazy Horse, a national literary magazine published in the MSU English Department.

Other members of the MSU creative writing program are mentioned in the Pushcart Prize Anthology. James Galvin, who is presently on leave from Murray, is listed as a contributing editor, and Jorie Graham, who taught poetry writing last year, is mentioned as an "outstanding writer" for a poem in "Poetry Northwest."

State Near Bottom On Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Wildlife Federation says Kentucky does the fourth worst job in the nation in handling hazardous wastes.

The state's ranking was included in a report released Wednesday by the federation which said waste dumps are ticking time bombs which could "happen almost anywhere in the United States."

The report, which included surveys from officials in 50 states and the District of Columbia, attempted to determine which states do the poorest job of regulating toxic wastes, and which do the best.

The "10 worst states handling hazardous wastes" identified by the federation are: (1) Georgia, (2) Missouri, (3) West Virginia, (4) Kentucky, (5) Michigan, (6) Mississippi, (7) Massachusetts, (8) Indiana, (9) Illinois and (10) Arizona.

The ranking was based on both the amount of toxic wastes generated by industries in each state, and the level of controls placed on the disposal of the wastes by the state, the federation said.

The federation survey found "less than a quarter of the states regulate hazardous waste landfills either by segregating toxic from nontoxic wastes or by specifying areas where hazardous waste landfills may not be established."

In addition, the survey disclosed, "nearly half the states require no assessment of the toxic chemical content of wastes proposed for land-filling, and less than a quarter of the states require content labels on disposed hazardous waste containers."

"The risk of contamination of human water and food remains very high in most states," the survey concluded.

The 10 states which did the best job of handling hazardous wastes, according to the federation, were: (1) Vermont, (2) Oregon, (3) Wyoming, (4) Delaware, (5) Maryland, (6) Washington, (7) District of Columbia, (8) North Dakota, (9) Montana, and (10) Connecticut.

The remaining states, listed in descending order of need to better control wastes, are Wisconsin, Virginia, New Jersey, Idaho, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Colorado, New York, Iowa, Ohio, Maine, Minnesota, Texas, Nevada, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Dakota, Nebraska, California, Alabama.

Utah, Tennessee, Kansas, Florida, Alaska, New Mexico, Rhode Island, Arkansas, Hawaii, South Carolina, Oklahoma, Connecticut, Montana, North Dakota, District of Columbia, Washington, Maryland, Delaware, Wyoming, Oregon, Vermont.

Powerful Cards Need No Introduction

By TONY WILSON

Ledger & Times Sports Editor

John Hina smiled and shrugged when questioned about his team's Friday night opponent. "What can you say about them that hasn't already been said?"

Indeed, just the bare statistics of Mayfield, Murray High's 8 p.m. foe at the Cardinals' War Memorial Stadium, are impressive enough.

Consider that Mayfield:

- has dominated, totally, Class AA football for the past two seasons, winning back-to-back state titles.

- will carry a 29-game winning streak, longest in the state, into Friday's game.

- has outscored this season's opponents 156-39, including a 40-0 shelling of highly-regarded Hopkinsville. has two backs that have already combined for 947 yards rushing and scored 15 touchdowns.

It should be noted, too, though, that of Mayfield's only three losses over the past four years, one has come at the hands of Murray High — a 14-6 decision in 1976. The Cardinals' other defeats came against Nashville Brentwood and against Corbin in the 1976 state championship game.

"We certainly don't need any incentive other than it's Mayfield we're playing to be up for this game," said Hina, whose Tigers will enter the game with a 2-1 record. The lone loss, though, was a 35-7 drubbing handed them by Fort Campbell last week.

"Our biggest task as coaches this week has been to try to rid the disappointment from our kids of that (the Fort Campbell) game," he said. "We certainly feel we're much better than that score indicated."

While the Cardinals' running game has flourished in the form of juniors Marcus Moss (617 yards on 62 carries) and Charles Parrott (330 on 50 tries), the Tigers' attack has been less than impressive.

Tim Foster is the only Murray High back with more than 200 yards, totaling 245 on 33 carries thus far. "Definitely, we've got to establish more of a running game than we've shown so far," said Hina. "For the pass to work, the opposition has to be worrying about the run, too."

Moss and Parrott are two reasons that have some Mayfield fans raving that this may be one of coach Jack Haskins' best teams. And with the presence of muscular Greg Kerr at fullback (6-2, 205) to block for Moss and Parrott, Mayfield has run roughshod over its opponents so far.

That powerful corps of runners has offset the lack of experience of Cardinal quarterback Jeff Flood, who as a sophomore, was faced with the task of replacing three-year starter Jeff Boyd.

Flood has been more than adequate thus far, completing 19 of 31 passes for 304 yards and three touchdowns. His primary receiver is senior split-end Chris Biggers, a player that has college scouts drooling.

Mayfield set a modern-school record last week against Todd County, picking up 624 yards in total offense. "It's going to be a big task to contain them offensively, but we feel like we are very capable," said Hina.

Of the Tigers' loss to Fort Campbell, Hina said that "mistakes broke our back. I don't want to degrade their victory, because it was a good one. But they rarely had to drive for their scores. We managed to put them in good field position with the mistakes."

Calloway County High, including quarterback Brad Bryan, shown handing off to a back during last week's 7-0 loss to McLean County, will face a Lone Oak team that is quicker than the Lakers' last-week opponent, says Calloway coach Stan Outland.

Lone Oak Hopes To Flash Lakers For 2nd Victory

By TONY WILSON

Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Even when Tom Pandolfi was shredding opponents' secondaries with his passing while earning all-Ohio Valley Conference honors as Murray State's quarterback in 1974, he admits that wasn't as tough as his first two weeks of coaching at Lone Oak High School.

He had the dubious honor of making his debut three weeks ago against powerhouse Mayfield — losing 32-7 — then following that up with a confrontation against 4-A school Paducah Tilghman — this time falling 38-0.

Finally, though, Pandolfi won. The Flash' 22-6 victory over Crittenden County last week gave Lone Oak its first triumph, and it will seek to begin a victory string Friday against fellow Class AAA foe Calloway County in the 8 p.m. contest at Roy Stewart Stadium.

"I was pleased with our win, of course, but I wasn't really pleased with how we did it," Pandolfi said this morning. "We could have, and should have, played much better than that."

A native of New Jersey, Pandolfi had no inkling that he would be coaching for Lone Oak or any other area high school during his tenure as a graduate assistant for Murray State last season.

"I expected to get a coaching job farther south, but then this job opened up, and I decided I wanted to take it. And I'm glad I did."

Pandolfi has seen some good things about his team, even during their first two lopsided losses. "We held Tilghman to almost nothing in the first half," he said. "Our defense has come a long way, and our offense gets better every week."

Calloway came close to winning its first contest of the season last week against McLean County before falling 7-0 in three sudden-death overtimes. That was quite a contrast to the 54-0 and 61-0 shellings it had suffered in its first two games.

"It's a lot easier to talk about a 7-0 game than a 54-0 one," Outland said. "We thought we put in a pretty good effort, and it's something we can put our finger on as being positive." And he says the Lakers' mistakes are correctable ones.

"After looking at the films, I can see that it comes down to the execution of fundamentals; it's just a matter of someone not doing their job when a breakdown occurs," he says.

Outland says that Lone Oak will be stronger than McLean County, and "they'll be bigger for another thing, and quicker."

Defense has been Calloway's main forte, especially in the form of 5-11 senior Mike Shipwash, who made 13 solo tackles against McLean County. However, Shipwash has missed practice all week with a knee injury, though Outland hopes he will be able to see at least some action Friday.

"We're weak on the ends, and that scares me," said Outland. "We've defended well against the inside run, and so far we've been adequate on the sweep. But that's definitely a weakness for us right now."

Tickets To Be Available For Racer Home Opener

MSU Sports Publicity

The ticket windows and stadium turnstiles will open at 6 p.m. Saturday as Murray State initiates its seventh season of football in Roy Stewart Stadium.

Racer athletic officials anticipate a large crowd for the 7:30 kickoff with rugged Southeast Louisiana as a result of a successful ticket campaign.

"Southeast Louisiana may be among the best teams we face at Stewart Stadium this season," noted Murray State coach Mike Gottfried following the Racers' 24-14 win over Evansville last week.

There will be a good supply of reserved bleacher (sections U, V and W) seats available at all three ticket windows. A limited number of general admission (sections X, Y and Z) tickets may be purchased with Gate I the only ticket window where general admission seats will be available.

Reserved bleacher seats are priced at $5 with adult general admission tickets sold for $4 and student (grades 1-12) general admission seats available for $2.

There will be a new 80-page game program available at all home games this season. Sponsored and sold by the Murray Jaycees, the program will feature rosters, lineups and background information about the football team.

The Racer Marching Band, under the direction of David Wells, will also make its initial home appearance of the season along with Violet Cactus, the nine-year-old thoroughbred which circles the stadium track with each Racer score. The Racer Marching Band includes nearly 170 members and is the largest ever at Murray State.

Sharing the halftime show will be the Caldwell County High School Tiger Band, under the direction of George Stephens, a 1963 Murray State graduate.

The band's eight minute performance will be routines to the music of the following numbers: "Spanis Opener," Harlem Nocturn, "Summer-time" and "You Is My Woman Now" from Porgy and Bess, and "Londonderry Aire."

Murray High coach John Hina and quarterback Rich Rollins watched the Tigers lose 35-7 to Fort Campbell last week. For Murray to compete with Mayfield, Hina says, the Tigers must establish their running game.

Scoreboard Can Be Reset Now After Yaz Captures 3,000th Hit

By DAVE O'HARA

AP Sports Writer

BOSTON — The Boston Red Sox can wipe out from the computer "I TO GO" on the electronic scoreboard.

After 19 years and three frustrating days, Carl Yastrzemski is the first American League player in history to achieve 3,000 hits and 400 homers.

Captain Carl, a 40-year-old wonder, reached the coveted goal of 3,000 hits Wednesday night, grounding a single under second baseman Willie Randolph's outstretched glove into right field in the eighth inning of Boston's 9-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Bedlam broke loose as the Red Sox mobbed their acknowledged leader at first base and a packed crowd of 34,337 stood, roared and clapped hands.

Somehow New York slugger Reggie Jackson made his way through the mob to present Yastrzemski the ball and offer congratulations. Manager Billy Martin led an exodus from the Yankees' dugout to join in the celebration.

Finally, formal ceremonies were held with league secretary Bob Holbrook presenting Yaz a special scroll.

With his dad, Carl Sr., and son, Mike, 18, at his side, Yastrzemski also accepted a trophy, listing all his many achievements, from Red Sox co-owners Buddy LeRoux and Haywood Sullivan.

"I know one thing — the last hit was the hardest of the 3,000," Yaz told the crowd jokingly. "It took me so long because I really enjoyed the standing ovations you've given me the last three days."

He went on to thank his teammates, Manager Don Zimmer, the Boston coaches, particularly hard-working Walt Hriniak, club president Mrs. Thomas A. Yawkey, widow of the long-time owner, and his family.

"I also wish two people who were my biggest boosters were here — my mother and Mr. Yawkey," he said. "They deserve to be here."

Yastrzemski's mother died after a long battle with cancer nearly three years ago. Yawkey died of leukemia in 1976.

Following the 15-minute festivities, Yastrzemski retired from the game for a pinch-runner. That's the only "retirement" plan in his future.

"I plan to play the rest of the season and come back next year," he said at a post-game news conference before heading upstairs, still in uniform, to meet with his family, Mrs. Yawkey and others.

"After seeing what the Nautilus program did for (teammate) Fred Lynn last winter, I'm going to try it," Yaz added with a grin. "After working on the Nautilus, I may come to spring training looking like Tarzan."

Mennea Sets World Mark; U.S. Rolls 88-70

By the Associated Press
MEXICO CITY — Italy's Pietro Mennea set a world record in the 200 meters at the 10th World University Games, clocking a time of 19.72 seconds. The time bettered the old mark of 19.83 set by Tommie Smith of the U.S. at the 1968 Olympics.

In the women's 200, world record holder Marita Koch of East Germany ran the third fastest time in history, 21.91, a Games record.

In other events, Andrew Toney scored 20 points as the United States men's basketball team rolled over Yugoslavia 88-70 and won the gold medal.

Notre Dame's Schedule Doesn't Start Slowly

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

When you sit down to a fancy meal, normally you whet your appetite with something delicate — like fresh shrimp or cold consommé — and pick over a nice salad dripping French dressing.

Not Notre Dame. The Fighting Irish, opening the college football season, have chosen to leap right into the beefsteak, taking on Michigan, Purdue and Michigan State in that order. They're plop, plop, fizz, fizz.

The Irish should chew their way through the bone and crustle of their first course, beating the Wolverines in Saturday's TV feature. It gets tougher after that.

Last week's tally: 30-12, 7-14. Taking a day out of the week's vacation, here goes another spin.

Notre Dame 25, Michigan 17. The Irish, with Rusty Lisch directing, avenge last year's setback against a rebuilding power.

UCLA 27, Purdue 20. An upset. The highly rated

Boilermakers, preseason Big Ten favorite, will be looking ahead to the Irish game.

Penn State 35, Rutgers 10. Dayle Tate, if he can keep from breaking any more bones, should fill Chuck Fusina's QB shoes nicely.

Southern California 42, Oregon State 12. The Trojans could make a creditable showing in the NFL.

Nebraska 45, Utah State 14. Kenny Brown and Junior Miller had 53 catches between them in 1978. Hipp, hipp, hooray.

Georgia 33, Wake Forest 7. The Bulldogs are getting better ratings down South than their former governor, Jimmy Carter.

Texas A&M 19, Baylor 14. Stunned by Brigham Young, the Aggies settle a year-old score with Baylor.

Oklahoma 47, Iowa 7. How can you drop the Sooners from title contention as long as Billy Sims (1,762 yards) is loose?

North Carolina State 30, Virginia 12. This is the Wolfpack team that beat Pitt in the Tangerine Bowl — bigger 'n better.

Missouri 38, Illinois 7. Phil Bradley's arm and Jim Wilder's legs should allow the Tigers to roll like Ol' Man River.

Washington 30, Utah 10. The Huskies, getting off to a better start than in '78, should be a definite bowl contender.

Florida State 28, Arizona State 20. One of the day's best games, with a nod to those two FSU slingers, Jimmy Jordan and Wally Woodham.

Louisiana State 27, Colorado 20. "Win 'em for Mac" is the Bayou rallying cry for departing Coach Charlie McClendon.

Army 20, Connecticut 14. Lou Saban gives the Cadets some spit, polish and pluck.

The others:

EAST

Tennessee 47, Boston College 6; Navy 28, Citadel 7; Holy Cross 15, New Hampshire 10; Pitt 32, Kansas 14; Syracuse 27, West Va. 19; Temple 22, Drake 7; Massachusetts 20, Villanova 15.

FAR WEST

California 26, Arizona 20; Brigham Young 28, Weber St. 7; Washington St. 23, Montana 7; Stanford 35, San Jose St. 6.

15 previous meetings with the Orioles dating back to Aug. 8, 1978.

Elsewhere in the AL, Chicago outscored California 11-5; Kansas City blanked Minnesota 4-0; Milwaukee defeated Oakland 7-0; Texas routed Seattle 13-3 and Detroit turned back Cleveland 4-1.

White Sox 11, Angels 5 — Jim Morrison drove in three runs with a single and sacrifice fly and Mike Colburn hit a two-run triple to lead Chicago over California. The loss was the second in a row for the Angels, whose lead in the American League West dropped to three games over Kansas City.

The White Sox scored six runs in the first inning to chase loser Chris Knapp, 3-4, after only two-thirds of an inning. Ken Kravec, 12-13, pitched 51-3 innings and was credited with the victory.

Royals 4, Twins 0 — Dennis Leonard pitched a three-hitter and Amos Otis drove in two runs to spark Kansas City over Minnesota. Leonard, 12-10, tossed his fourth shutout of the season and his second against the Twins in 10 days, struck out three and walked two.

Only Percentage Points Separate Expos, Bucs; Reds Gain Sweep

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

The Montreal Expos are holding onto first place in the National League East ... one-half game behind the Pittsburgh Pirates.

No, you didn't read that wrong. Yes, it's true.

The Pirates have won three more games than the Expos while Montreal has lost two less games than Pittsburgh. But the Expos have a 60.4 winning percentage while the Pirates are chugging along at a 60.4 clip.

Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner, however, isn't worried.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

"Fractions of percentage points don't matter to me. All that matters is that we keep winning," Tanner said after Pittsburgh beat the St. Louis Cardinals 2-0 behind the sixth-inning homer of John Candelaria and reliever Kent Tekulve Wednesday night.

The Expos also won, 6-3 over the Chicago Cubs. It was Montreal's 16th victory in its last 17 games.

"I'd have to say it's really discouraging for Montreal to play the way they're playing and they can't catch up," said Tanner, ignoring the mathematical fact that the Expos hold a slight edge. "It's tough when you keep winning and you can't catch the team in front of you. It makes it hard. There's a lot of pressure on them."

Despite their hot streak, the Expos have not been able to gain much ground on the Pirates, who have won 14 of their last 17 contests.

"Montreal can't possibly play any better than they have played, and they've only picked up a game and a half," Tekulve said. "You win 16 out of 17 and only pick up a game and a half. That's got to be a little frustrating."

In other NL games Wednesday, San Francisco nipped Atlanta 4-3, Cincinnati stopped Chicago 7-4, Philadelphia blanked New York 4-0 and Los Angeles downed San Diego 5-2.

Expos 6, Cubs 3 — Veteran Tony Perez drove in two runs with a double to ignite a three-run eighth-inning rally and carry Montreal to its victory over Chicago.

Dave Kingman, Larry Bittner and Steve Ontiveros stroked run-scoring singles in the first inning to provide the Cubs with a 3-0 lead. But the Expos bounced back with a run in the third on Larry Parrish's 25th homer of the season and third in as many games. Montreal tied the contest with two runs in the seventh.

Reds 7, Astros 4 — Dave Collins' perfect 3-for-3 night at the plate paced Cincinnati to its victory over Houston, giving the Reds a 1½-game lead in the National League West.

Frank Pastore, 4-6, got the victory in relief as the Reds swept the two-game series with Houston. Joe Niekro, 18-10, was the loser, failing for the fourth straight time in his attempt to pick up his 19th win of the season.

Giants 4, Braves 3 — Left-hander Vida Blue, whose bunt single helped ignite a two-run third inning, won his 12th game as San Francisco edged Atlanta.

Mike Ivie slammed his 24th home run of the season, a solo shot, for the Giants in the fifth inning.

Dodgers 5, Padres 2 — Bill Russell and Steve Garvey collected three hits each to back the eight-hit pitching of Charlie Hough and Bobby Castillo as Los Angeles stopped San Diego.

Hough, 5-5, worked into the eighth inning before Castillo took over, recording his sixth save.

Phillies 4, Mets 0 — Randy Lerch tripled in two runs and hurled his first shutout of the season as Philadelphia defeated New York. Lerch, 9-12, scattered seven hits and New York got more than one hit in only the first inning.

The left-hander walked two and struck out eight in pitching his fifth complete game of the season.

Meyers' Hopes Of NBA Career Ended By Pacers

By the Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS — Ann Meyers convinced Indiana Pacers Coach Bobby Leonard she knew the fundamentals of basketball well enough to play in the National Basketball Association. But, Leonard said her size just wasn't right.

"If she was six inches bigger and 40 pounds heavier, it would have been a different story," Leonard said Wednesday after he told the 5-foot-9, 140-pound Meyers that she had failed in her bid to become the first woman to play in the NBA.

"I personally feel Ann did a great job from the fundamental standpoint of knowing the game of basketball," Leonard said. "I wish some guys out there tonight were as fundamentally sound as her."

Meyers, an All-American women's player at UCLA and a U.S. Olympic star in Montreal who will remain with the club in some capacity, took the news calmly.

"I'm happy with myself," she said. "I did the best I could. The players were super to me. Slick (Leonard) and his assistants showed me a lot of things that I did wrong."

Sam Nassi, the club's owner who decided to give Meyers her opportunity, said no definite decision had been reached concerning a future role with the team.

"She has already had an offer from one television station and an offer from a radio station to do color commentary for 82 games," he said. "We can definitely use her in the administrative end of the organization."

Wade Upset By Gilbert

By the Associated Press
TOKYO — Dana Gilbert upset defending champion Virginia Wade of Britain 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 in the first round of a $150,000 tournament.

In other matches, Dianne Fromholtz of Australia eliminated Brigitte Cuypers of the Netherlands 6-4, 6-3; Wendy Turnbull of Australia ousted Barbara Jordan 6-1, 6-4; Australia's Kerry Reid beat Diane Desfor 6-2, 6-2; Billie Jean King defeated Julie Harrington 2-6, 6-1, 6-1 and Laura DuPont downed Jeanne Duval 6-1, 6-4.

ATLANTA — Ricky Meyer upset No. 2 seed Ilie Nastase 3-6, 6-3, 6-1 in the third round of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution Open. In other matches, third-seeded Eliot Teltscher eliminated South African Cliff Drysdale 6-3, 6-0 and Kevin Curren outlasted Ray Moore 6-1, 6-7, 7-6.

American Eagle The Beauty of Four-Wheel Drive

The American Eagle is America's newest four-wheel drive automobile. It combines the comfort and luxury features you've come to expect only in passenger cars, with the exceptional handling capabilities inherent in four-wheel drive vehicles. That means you can have handsome styling and comfort plus the security of knowing that Eagle can get you there — when you want to be there.

Heavy rain, sticky mud, slushy snow or slippery ice are no match for Eagle's automatic four-wheel drive system. Once you've experienced its secure, road-hugging stability, you'll see why we call it the first real alternative to conventional two-wheel drive transportation.

Built on a compact 109.3-inch wheelbase, Eagle is available in three body styles — 4-Door Wagon, 2-Door Sedan and 4-Door Sedan — each measuring a trim 186.2 inches in overall length. Powered by a 4.2 liter six cylinder engine and smooth 3-speed automatic transmission, the Eagle is very much attuned to the energy and environmental concerns of the 1980s.

Everything about the American Eagle is truly remarkable! Its tastefully refined exterior and interior styling. Its innovative engineering features like independent front suspension and unique use of viscous coupling in the transfer case. Employment of one of the most advanced full time automatic four-wheel drive systems in the world. Plus the availability of all of the luxurious comfort and convenience amenities previously reserved for passenger cars. The exciting new Eagle has it all!

However impressive the Eagle is to read about, the actual experience of driving one will tell the whole story. Treat yourself to a test drive. It's the best way to observe how the American Eagle is about to revolutionize the world of driving.

Who'll Pay You 10.294% On Six Month Savings Certificates?

Peoples Bank money market certificates are non-negotiable time deposits. These certificates have a 6 month maturity (182 days). The minimum deposit amount is $10,000, but deposits may be made in any amount of $10,000 or more. Federal regulations prohibit the compounding of interest on these money market certificates. The interest is subject to change at maturity. This 10.294% rate is effective on certificates purchased from now through September 19, 1979.

WHO'LL PAY YOU 7.95% ON FOUR YEAR MONEY CERTIFICATES?

If you want a longer term certificate - how about our new higher interest FOUR YEAR MONEY CERTIFICATE? You can earn an interest rate only 1% below the average four year yield on U.S. Treasury securities. The interest rate for September is 7.95% and yields 8.274%. The rate on new certificates is determined the first of each month.

WHO'LL PAY YOU 5% ON A PASSBOOK SAVINGS?

Do you have some surplus cash you want readily available yet want to earn interest on it? Then a Blue Chip Savings account is your answer. Interest rate is 5% and paid quarterly. Interest is paid from the day of deposit to day of withdrawal.

WHO'LL OFFER YOU A FULL RANGE OF OTHER CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT TO SUIT YOUR NEEDS?

A substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal of certificates of deposit.

Life-Support Systems Operating As Judge Prepares Explanation

DENVER (AP) — A 17-month-old boy's life-support systems remained in operation today while a judge prepared to tell the Colorado Supreme Court why he decided the comatose child was dead and ordered the machines turned off.

The high court has given Pueblo District Court Judge Donald Abram five days to show why he felt he acted correctly in ordering little Jerry Trujillo's respirator and other life-support machinery cut off.

The court stayed Abram's ruling Wednesday at the request of Jerry's mother, Rosalie Lovato, and the child's court-appointed guardian, Pueblo attorney Mickey Smith.

Miss Lovato, 20, is charged with felony child abuse in connection with the infant's injuries, but could face more serious charges if the Supreme Court eventually declares her son legally dead.

Colorado has no law setting forth a legal definition of death, leaving the common-law definition of cessation of heartbeat and spontaneous breathing as the only guideline.

Scientists Discover Genetic Cancer Defect

BOSTON (AP) — For the first time, scientists have discovered an inherited genetic defect that causes a form of cancer, and they say they can spot fetuses before birth that almost certainly will grow up to have the disease.

Researchers at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston found an inherited fault in the chromosomes of members of a family that had an unusually high incidence of cancer of the kidney. The genetic error apparently caused the illness.

Frederic Moves Inland Leaving Trail Of Damage

policeman to fire two warning shots at looters, then "shoot to kill."

Mobile Mayor Gary Greenbough said some looting was reported in the downtown area and Alabama Gov. Fob James sent armed National Guardsmen and state troopers into the area.

Prichard fireman Sidney Anderson said the looting began at daybreak, "as soon as they could see to steal."

Nearly half a million people fled their homes as Frederic followed close to the path that Hurricane Camille took 10 years ago in killing more than 250 people.

At 9 a.m. EDT, the center of the storm was located near latitude 32.3 north and longitude 88.6 west, very close to Meridian. It was moving north at 15 mph to 20 mph and was expected to turn northeast later in the day.

Florida Gov. Bob Graham said he expected the damage in the area from Panama City to Pensacola to exceed the $95 million in wreckage left by Hurricane David 13 days ago. Frederic destroyed 125 houses and mobile homes and blacked out the entire tip of the Florida Panhandle.

Mississippi Gov. Cliff Finch estimated damage in his state at more than $50 million. "It's terrible," Finch said. "Fortunately there were not any lives lost. But some lost all they had saved their life for."

In Mobile, streets were nearly impassable and 160,000 customers were without electricity. A power company spokesman said it would take several weeks to fully restore power.

Frederic damaged the roof and ripped a cupola from the historic City Hall in Mobile, where more than 5 inches of rain fell between 9 p.m. and 10 p.m. Wednesday.

Century-old oaks littered the city's boulevards and littered streets kept firefighters from three reported blazes.

Downtown storefronts were blasted out, and officials said one shopping center which housed several stores was "virtually blown away."

County engineer Joe Ruffer woke up city chain saw dealers to ask for clean-up tools, but added, "I may have to cut my way into the area where my work crews live."

Relief coordinator Gerald Baxley said there were reports of people trapped under collapsed roofs in Mobile's northern suburb of Prichard. Rescue efforts were delayed until daylight.

The storm's wind and waves eight feet high destroyed 120 homes in the Florida Panhandle, said Escambia County administrative spokesman Pat Donnelly. He said a 38-foot sailboat was sitting in a street 100 yards north of Pensacola Bay and three marinas where luxury yachts were docked were destroyed.

The storm's main thrust was between Mobile, a city of 300,000, and Pascagoula, about 30 miles southwest. Maximum winds had diminished to 80 mph as Frederic moved inland early today.

Congress Keeps Hand In Gas Rationing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although ready to grant the president standby powers to ration gasoline during a shortage, Congress isn't about to deal itself out of the decision on how coupons would be distributed.

House-Senate energy conferees were returning to the bargaining table today to decide whether Congress or the president should have the final say on details of a coupon rationing plan.

The session follows agreement Wednesday on a compromise formula for determining when rationing could be imposed. Leaders called the agreement a major breakthrough in their attempt to forge a compromise standby rationing bill.

The panel was named last month to resolve differences between versions of the legislation previously passed by each chamber. The compromise bill the panel produces will go back to both the full House and Senate for final approval.

Basically, the conference panel went along with the House approach to give the president rationing authority during a 20 percent or greater fuel shortage that lasts, or seemed likely to last, for 30 days.

Either house of Congress would have 15 days to block implementation of rationing after the president announced his intention to impose it.

Telephone Customers Facing Rate Increase

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP) — About 10,300 customers in six Western Kentucky counties are facing higher telephone bills.

The Utility Regulatory Commission has approved rates to add $319,000 revenue yearly for Western Kentucky Rural Telephone, a co-op based in Mayfield. The increase will raise residential rates to $12 and commercial to $18 monthly.

Counties involved are Calloway, Carlisle, Graves, Hickman, Marshall and McCracken. Two Tennessee counties serviced by the company are not affected.

White Says Carter Seems 'A Little Feistier'

By FRANK CORMIER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman John C. White, after a day of watching Jimmy Carter meet the voters, thinks the president has become "a little feistier" since Sen. Edward M. Kennedy began inching closer to a run for the White House.

White's assessment that he saw new fire in Carter's approach to the electorate came after "non-political" appearances by the president Wednesday in Connecticut, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

The presidential feistiness apparently was sparked by Kennedy's statement that he has "not foreclosed the possibility of running" for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

After Wednesday's foray, presidential press secretary Jody

Powell said Carter would prefer to wait until January to announce his campaign plans, but might be prompted to come forward sooner because of Kennedy's actions.

Speculation about a Kennedy candidacy has been rampant since the Massachusetts Democrat said last week that his family had no objections to his entering the race.

White said a Carter-Kennedy fight for the Democratic nomination would be "one of the classic struggles of our political history." And former President Richard M. Nixon said Wednesday that "if the Massachusetts boys go against the Georgia boys, it will be the battle of the century." Carter's home state is Georgia.

As for Kennedy, White told a group of reporters aboard Air Force One on the flight back to Washington: "It seems to me he has moved from being an unannounced candidate with an option to announce to an announced candidate with an option to withdraw."

The party chairman, who has been aligned politically with Carter as the incumbent president, loyally added that "anyone who thinks the president is going to play dead is mistaken."

Carter himself seemed a bit uncertain how to deal with Kennedy's statement Tuesday that he may seek the nomination.

Asked by a citizen along an airport fence in Hartford, Conn., if he thought he could beat Kennedy, Carter responded, "I feel confident about the future."

Landing in Pittsburgh before driving through West Virginia's panhandle to a "town hall meeting" in Steubenville, Ohio, Carter was less responsive when a television reporter asked if, indeed, he thought he could beat Kennedy.

The News In Brief

INTERNATIONAL

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The most powerful earthquake in two years plunged half an Indonesian town into the sea, officials reported, and heavy casualties were feared.

The quake Wednesday afternoon measured 8.0 on the Richter scale. Officials said it devastated Ansum, a town of 8,000 on Yapi Island some 2,300 miles east of Jakarta. Yapi, with a total of 40,000 people, is in Cendrawasih Gulf, on the northern coast of Irian Jaya, the western half of New Guinea.

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Police closed the trails and cable car to the boiling main crater of Mount Etna, Europe's most active volcano and one of Sicily's biggest tourist attractions, after its first fatal eruption in years killed six Italians.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa asked for postponement of today's session of the Zimbabwe Rhodesia conference so he and his delegation could study Britain's proposed new constitution for the war-torn African country.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman John C. White says he thinks President Carter has become "a little feistier" since Sen. Edward M. Kennedy began inching closer to a run for the White House.

White's assessment came after Carter's "non-political" appearances Wednesday in Connecticut, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Although ready to grant the president standby powers to ration gasoline during a shortage, Congress isn't about to deal itself out of the decision on how coupons would be distributed.

House-Senate energy conferees were working today to decide who should have final say on coupon details: Congress or the president.

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Despite an overwhelming House defeat, a measure to resurrect military draft registration may be put to a Senate vote.

The House rejected Wednesday a proposal to renew draft registration for 18-year-old men in 1981, calling instead for a study by President Carter.

NATIONAL

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Hurricane Frederic hurled its fury at the Gulf Coast today from Florida to Louisiana, ripping apart homes, knocking out power, shattering hospital windows and flattening businesses with winds of up to 130 mph.

There was one confirmed death as the born-again storm hit Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and the Florida Panhandle, churning up 15-foot tides before weakening as it moved inland.

Church Offers Prize For Hymns

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Finding good material is never a problem for the heavenly choir, but for the earthly congregations of one Protestant church the pickings have gotten pretty slim.

That has prompted the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), with its world headquarters here, to launch a sacred music composition contest, complete with a $200 cash prize.

Why would an established church — with 1.4 million members — feel the need for new sacred songs when the old ones have served it well?

"I suppose there are two or three reasons," said Dr. Thomas E. Wood, executive secretary of the church's department of ministry. "The first one is very mundane. We are a 178-year-old denomination and as far as we can tell, we've never been involved in the process of developing sacred music. We have quite a few musicians in our church and we thought it would be good to stimulate them to do some sacred music because it's not part of our tradition."

Another reason is that some of the hymns have been used so much that they've become overworked, he said.

"We have a weekly communion service and when you have a service like we do 52 Sundays a year, you exhaust the material very quickly," Wood explained.

The contest is open to members of the church's Association of Disciple Musicians and other members and employees of the church and its congregations. The entry deadline is next June 1. Wood said the judging by a panel of church musicians should be complete by mid July.

Kennedy Meeting Slated

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A meeting is planned in Louisville this weekend by supporters of Massachusetts Senator Edward Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Charles Hagan of Louisville said the organizational meeting of Kentuckians for Kennedy would be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Lampton Baptist Church in Louisville. He said the Federal Election Commission had agreed to send the necessary information on how to organize a back-Kennedy group.

"Sen. Kennedy's always had good support in this particular area," Hagan said, "as well as Kentucky being a pretty strong Democratic state ... so we've decided to put together an effort on his behalf at this time."

"We've been in touch with the Federal Election Commission and they're sending us all the necessary information," he said.

Carter Calls For Increased Use Of U.S. Coal In Energy Battle

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — President Carter's call for a tripling of the use of domestic coal by 1995 was not enough to satisfy many of the east Ohioans who listened to the president at a town meeting Wednesday.

Nor were their minds set at ease regarding what is, for them, a critical question: Whether federal clean air standards will allow for the continued use of Ohio's high sulfur coal.

At the afternoon meeting, about 1,500 persons gathered in the sweltering auditorium of Steubenville High School to hear Carter promote his energy program.

The president said increased coal production should help the country cut back on oil imports, which he said mean more inflation and economic difficulties. He offered as a slogan, "Instead of foreign oil, use more Ohio coal."

Carter said energy problems can be dealt with "without scapegoats or fear of the future" if labor, management and government work together.

How Kentucky's Congressmen Voted On Renewing Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the way Kentucky congressmen voted as the House defeated an amendment to renew draft registration for all 18-year-old men by a vote of 252-163 Wednesday night.

A "yes" vote was a vote in favor of renewing registration. A "no" vote was a vote against it.

Voting "yes" were 92 Democrats and 71 Republicans.

Voting "no" were 172 Democrats and 80 Republicans.

"xxx" means not voting. There are no vacancies in the 435-member House.

Democrats — Hubbard, yes; Mazzoli, no; Natcher, no; Perkins, no.

Republicans — Carter, xxx; Hopkins, no; Snyder, no.

"Our country is strong enough to withstand any challenges... if our people are willing to make sacrifices and cooperate," the president said.

When the president finished, a selected few had a chance to question him about their concerns.

One man who identified himself as an unemployed miner told Carter, "All your plans seem fine for the future, but us coal miners, we want to work now, not 10 years from now."

In Columbus, Gov. James A. Rhodes said coal use should be increased more quickly than called for by the president. The Republican governor said: "Gearing up coal production by 1995 is not soon enough. Unless the energy problem is solved before 1995, we are looking at a 16-year, man-made depression which will cause serious harm to the nation, to Ohio and to the working men and women of Ohio's coal region."

Carter blamed Congress for the delay in working toward a solution to the nation's energy problems.

He said Congress has not passed "a single line of legislation concerning oil because of the power in the past of the oil companies." He added he feels now that the oil companies and the rest of the country are about equal in their influence on Congress.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency came under heavy fire from the audience for policies that have adversely affected the area's coal and steel industries.

In response to the criticism, the president said the EPA is an independent agency which he doesn't control. But he pledged, "We'll do all we can within the bounds of environmental standards" to promote the use of Ohio coal.

Priest Sentenced For Smuggling Pot In Jail

LAGRANGE, Ky. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest who admitted smuggling marijuana into the Kentucky State Reformatory has been sentenced to jail in Oldham Circuit Court.

The Rev. John B. Modica, 58, was sentenced Tuesday to serve each Monday and Tuesday for the next two months in the Campbell County Jail at Alexandria.

Judge George F. Williamson ordered the sentence carried out there because "the defendant has been under the jurisdiction of the Diocese of Covington."

Modica also is required to report monthly for counseling to the Campbell County Probation and Parole Office for six months after the jail sentence.

He was arrested Dec. 6 at the reformatory after guards found several one-ounce bags of marijuana in the shoes of a prisoner he had visited.

The prisoner, Mark M. Brown, 20, Maysville, also was charged with promoting contraband. He was given a six-month sentence to run concurrently with the 20-year term he was serving for conspiracy to commit murder.

Modica, a priest for 30 years, once held a pastorate at Maysville's St. Patrick Church, where he met Brown.

The original charge against the priest was promoting contraband, first degree. The charge was amended to second degree, a misdemeanor, when Modica pleaded guilty.

Sentencing was delayed while he underwent rehabilitation at the Servants of the Paraclete, a church institution in Jemez Springs,

Heavy Casualties Reported As Quake Dumps Half Town In Sea

By GHAFUR FADYL
 Associated Press Writer
 JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The most powerful earthquake in two years plunged half an Indonesian town into the sea, officials reported, and heavy casualties were feared.

The quake Wednesday afternoon measured 8.0 on the Richter scale. Officials said it devastated Ansum, a town of 8,000 on Yapen Island some 2,300 miles east of Jakarta. Yapen, with a total of 40,000 people, is in Cendrawasih Gulf, on the northern coast of Irian Jaya, the western half of New Guinea.

Half the houses in Ansum were swallowed up by the gulf, Interior Department spokesman Faisal Taimin reported. But he said there was no word on casualties yet.

Taimin said the quake also caused major damage in the town of Serui, some 40 miles east of Ansum, where it demolished the district government and legislative buildings, three schools, a church, a police barracks and other buildings.

Interior Minister Amir Machmud and a team from the office of the governor of Irian Jaya flew to the area.

The quake also rocked Biak, an island of 76,000 people about 70 miles north of Ansum, and an American staying in a hotel there said he and his friends felt the ground tremble and saw the peaks of buildings sway.

"The quake scared the hell out of everybody and almost everybody ran out in panic," said Joe Murray of Freepoint Indonesia, a subsidiary of Freepoint Minerals Co. of New York, which is mining copper in the area.

"We rushed out of our hotel to an open parking lot to avoid any falling beams in case the building caved in."

Murray said the first shock lasted about 45 seconds and there were three or four more, followed by nine milder tremors in the evening.

He said he and his friends drove around Biak City and the surrounding countryside but did not spot any casualties or serious damage.

Officials reported tremors were felt along a 3,000-mile arc stretching westward to northern Sumatra along the Java Trench, a quake-prone area where the massive, shifting portions of the earth's crust known as the Australian and Pacific Plates overlap.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo., said it was the most powerful quake since another 8.0 tremor hit the Indonesian island of Sum-bawe, some 1,500 miles west of Yapen, on Aug. 19, 1977, killing more than 100 persons.

Fourteen months earlier, on June 26, 1976, more than 800 residents of Irian Jaya were killed when an earthquake measuring 7.1 on the Richter scale hit the island. Several entire villages were buried by landslides.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude.

A Richter reading of 7 is considered a "major" earthquake capable of widespread heavy damage, and an 8 reading is considered a "great" quake capable of tremendous damage.

The San Francisco earthquake of 1906, which occurred before the Richter scale was devised, has been estimated to have had a reading of 8.3.

Wheelchair Bound Former Broadway Star Encouraged By TV Audience Response

FORT THOMAS, Ky. (AP) — Former Broadway star Danny Scholl was recently sent more than 7,400 get-well cards following a singing appearance on a regional television show.

Scholl, partially paralyzed and bound to a wheelchair following his fourth stroke, is planning another comeback.

"Any time there is something about me in the media it lets handicapped people know Danny Scholl made it," he said.

Scholl was a $10,000-a-week star in the 1950s.

"I was the John Raitt-type. I played all the parts he played," the native Cincinnati said. He is recuperating in the Army hospital at Fort Thomas.

Scholl's speech has returned to normal and he is talking about performing sitting down.

"I was on the Bob Braun television show the other day and when I saw those women in tears, I broke. It wasn't just that, but when they played my record, I was thinking, 'Will I be able to sing like that again?'" he said.

An ASN Special Report Practical Energy Conservation: Tests Prove Merit of Timer-Controlled Hot Water

• In 1966, about 28 per cent of water heaters installed were electric. In 1976, nearly 46 per cent were electric. Nationwide, there are now some 29 million electric water heaters in use. The trend is apt to continue.

• Electric water heaters use more electricity than any other home appliance. In some areas of the nation, electric bills are greater than mortgage payments. And rates continue to rise.

• A time switch can be installed on an electric water heater in 30 minutes or less. It can pay for itself in dollar savings during only a few months.
